At our weekly Bible study, the leader asked an elderly gentleman, Walt, to open the meeting with prayer. Walt did so in a soft voice. Another man, straining to hear, shouted, "I can't hear you!" Walt replied, "I wasn't talking to you."

A pastor received a letter from a congregant. Removing the letter from the envelope, it had one word written on it--Fool! "Well", said the pastor, "the sender signed the letter, but didn't write anything else!"

A blind man goes to the Passover Seder and someone passes him a piece of matzah. He runs his fingers over it and loudly exclaims, "Who wrote this garbage!?!?"

A woman was teaching Sunday school class. The topic for the day: Easter Sunday and the resurrection of Christ. "What did Jesus do on this day?" she asked. There was no response, so she gave her students a hint: "It starts with the letter R." One boy blurted, "Recycle!"

The last time we changed from daylight saving time, a preacher friend posted, "For those who habitually show up 15 minutes late to church, allow me to remind you that tonight is the night you set your clock back 45 minutes."

A print shop was making leaflets for a local church, and the client wanted a logo designed with Earth being shielded by the hand of God. They sent the client a proof. Shortly thereafter, they got a call. Client: The hand looks too human. Please use a hand that looks more like God's.

I work out religiously—Christmas and Easter.

Zen in the Internet Age: If an anonymous comment goes unread, is it still irritating? • What is the sound of no hands texting? • If nobody likes your selfie, what is the value of the self? • To see a man's true face, look to the photos he hasn't posted.

We were reading The Wisdom of King Solomon in my Sunday school class. An illustration showed King Solomon ordering a child to be cut in half, as one woman sobbed, and another watched uncaringly. Pointing to the heartless woman, a young boy said, "I hope she ends up with the part that has the butt on it."

Howard dies and waits in line for judgment. He notices that some souls go right into heaven, while Satan throws others into a burning pit. But every so often, instead of hurling a poor soul into the fire, the devil tosses it aside. Curious, Howard asks Satan, "Excuse me, but why are you tossing them aside instead of flinging them into hell with the others?" "They're from Seattle," Satan replies. "They're too wet to burn."

Due to the recession, to save on energy costs, the light at the end of the tunnel will be turned off. –God Spotted on a church marquee: "Love your enemies; After all, you made them."

After ringing cell phones ruined a service, the pastor laid down the law in the latest church newsletter: "Let's turn off the technology and turn on each other."

Meeting with my new pastor, I asked if I could have a church service when I eventually die. "Of course," he said, grabbing his date book. "What day do you want?"

When our minister and his wife visited our neighbor, her four-year-old daughter answered the door. "Mom!" she yelled toward the living room. "God's here, and he brought his girlfriend."

En route to church to make his first confession, my nervous seven-year-old grandson asked me what he could expect. "Confession is where you tell all the bad things you've done to the priest," I told him. He looked relieved. "Good. I haven't done anything bad to the priest."

After being kicked out of Eden, Adam woke up hoping the curse was all a bad dream, but then remembered there were no bad dreams before the curse.
